

Trixi and her cell phone

An ordinary day

Trixi just got her own cell phone recently, which she keeps with her all day. Have a look at when and what she uses it for. And what about you?

Trixi listens to the radio while waking up and eating breakfast. On the way to school, she turns on her phone and writes a message to her very best friend.

What do you use your phone for in the morning?

During recess Trixi and her friends watch a video on her phone. Then they play a level of their current favorite game.

What do you do with your phone at school?

In the afternoons when Trixi goes home, she calls her mother at work to tell her that she's arrived home safely.

What do you do after school?

While doing homework, Trixi sets her phone to silent and puts it away. That's the agreement she has with her parents.

Where do you put your phone while you do your homework?

Trixi meets with her friends to play in the afternoons. They call each other to figure out where to meet.

What do you do when meeting friends?

Before she goes to sleep, Trixi reads an exciting book. Then she listens to a bit of music before she puts her phone away and falls asleep.

Where is your phone while you sleep?
